OLD-GROWTH RECLAIMED TEAK: BEAUTIFUL & RARE

Recognized as the Rainforest Alliance's Sustainable Standard Setter, IndoTeak Design uses old-growth reclaimed teak (Tecona Grandis) is the most beautiful and sustainable floor on the market. Reclaimed from historic buildings that have been slated for demolition, we save the wood and turn them into hand-crafted home goods. Through our tightly controlled manufacturing process in our factory in Indonesia, we painstakingly create products that are third-party certified to Forest Stewardship Council Standards. We are proud to say we are as close to "zero-waste" as possible by utilizing every part of our precious reclaimed harvest.

Stunning grain patterns, tone variations, and soul vibes emanate from our reclaimed teak. Warm honey tones & rich brown hues are the result of natural forest growth and decades of air-drying.

IndoTeak Design engineered floors have remarkable stability due to the unique all teak construction and long seasoning time. The dense grain and rich natural oils of our reclaimed teak ensure a floor that will remain beautiful for generations. See the difference, Feel the soul.

YOU WON'T SACRIFICE BEAUTY,

WE DON'T SACRIFICE NATURE.

Old-growth Teak is one of the rarest and most beautiful woods on earth, but harvesting these 100-300 year old trees destroys the surrounding forest and the other living things inside it. Each year 32,000,000 acres of tropical rainforest are destroyed. IndoTeak Design believes in protecting the most vibrant and diverse eco-systems on the planet. Indoteak gives new life to old-growth Teak reclaiming 100-500 year old beams from buildings that are slated for demolition. The beams are handcrafted into the most beautiful, durable and sustainable wood products on the market. The Rainforest Alliance recognizes Indoteak Design as the leader in the industry and has awarded us its coveted Sustainable Standard Setter Award. Indoteak Design, for a beautiful life.
